Welcome

If you sell anything, you are already sitting on your most valuable asset: a list of people who once raised their hand and talked to you.

Most of those conversations go cold. Not because the product was wrong or the price was too high, but because nobody knew what to say, when to say it, or how to move a friendly chat toward a clear decision.

This guide fixes that. Inside you will find a simple, repeatable method, the exact messages to send at each stage, and real conversation examples you can copy and adapt today.

You do not need a big following. You do not need to run ads. You do not need to be a smooth talker. You need a clear process, and that is exactly what you are holding.

Read it once from start to finish. Then keep it open beside you while you work. Treat the templates as a starting point and make them sound like you.

Let's begin.

Introduction: The C4 Method

Selling on WhatsApp is not about clever tricks. It is about guiding a conversation through four natural steps. Once you see them, every chat becomes easier.

Most people jump straight to C3 (Convert). They pitch before they connect or understand, and the chat dies. The magic is in doing the steps in order. This guide walks you through each one.

How to use this guide: each module ends with key takeaways and a short action step. Do the action before moving on. Small steps, done in order, beat reading the whole thing and doing nothing.

Module 1: Set the Stage

C1 · CONNECT

First impressions happen before you speak

Before you send a single message, your profile is already talking for you. In two seconds people decide if you look trustworthy or like a stranger. Let's make those two seconds count.

LESSON 1.1

A profile that builds trust

Open your WhatsApp profile and treat it like a tiny storefront. Three things matter most:

YOUR PHOTO

Use a clear, friendly photo of your face, or a clean logo if you sell as a brand. No dark selfies, no group photos. People buy from people they can see.

YOUR NAME AND "ABOUT"

Your name should be how clients know you or your business. The "about" line is prime space most people waste on "Hey there! I am using WhatsApp". Use it to say what you do.

Good "about" examples

- Custom cakes for events · order by message
- Helping small shops sell more online
- Personal trainer · plans from home

LESSON 1.2

WhatsApp Business basics

If you sell, switch to the free WhatsApp Business app. It gives you tools the normal app does not, and it signals that you are a real business. Set up these five first:

- Business profile: hours, a short description, and a category.
- Greeting message: sent automatically to anyone who messages you first.
- Away message: for when you cannot reply right away.
- Quick replies: save your most-used answers and send them with a shortcut.
- Labels: tag chats (New lead, Negotiating, Client) so nobody falls through the cracks.

Why this matters: a greeting message means a new lead is welcomed in one second, even at 2am. That tiny touch keeps the conversation alive until you can reply.

LESSON 1.3

Status that sells quietly

Your Status is seen by everyone who has your number. Used well, it warms people up so that when you do talk, they already trust you. The rule: be useful or be human, not a billboard.

A simple weekly Status mix

- 2 useful tips related to what you sell
- 1 behind-the-scenes moment (you, your work, your day)
- 1 happy client result or thank-you (with permission)
- 1 soft invitation ("send me a message if you want X")

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Your profile sells before you do. Clear photo, useful name, strong "about".
- WhatsApp Business is free and makes you look professional. Set up greeting, away, quick replies and labels.
- Status keeps you top of mind. Be useful or human, not a billboard.

ACTION STEP

1. Update your photo and "about" line today.
2. Install WhatsApp Business and set a greeting message.
3. Post one useful Status this week.

Module 2: Bring the Right People In

C1 · CONNECT

A great method needs people to talk to. The goal of this module is simple: a steady trickle of the right people landing in your chat, without buying ads or messaging strangers.

LESSON 2.1

Where leads come from

You already have more sources than you think. List them, then turn each one into a path to your WhatsApp:

- Your contacts: people who already know you.
- Social bios: a "Message me" button on Instagram, TikTok and Facebook.
- Content: posts and Stories that invite a reply.
- Referrals: happy clients sending friends your way.

LESSON 2.2

The invitation post

An invitation post gives people a reason to message you first. That is powerful, because a person who starts the chat is far easier to talk to. The formula: a clear benefit, plus a simple instruction.

Template: "If you want [specific result], send me the word [KEYWORD] and I will explain how it works. No pressure."

STORY OR POST THAT INVITES A REPLY

You (Status)

Booking 3 spots this week for custom cakes 🍰 Want the price list? Reply CAKE and I will send it over.

A contact

CAKE 🐱

You

Love it! Quick question so I send the right list: is it for a birthday, wedding or something else?

LESSON 2.3

Reactivate old contacts

Old contacts are gold and almost everyone ignores them. The trick is to reach out like a human, not a salesperson. Lead with them, not with your offer.

REACTIVATION, THE RIGHT WAY

You

Hey Marina! It has been a while 😊 I was reorganizing my contacts and your name came up. How have you been?

Marina

Hey! All good, busy as always haha. And you?

You

Same here, in a good way. I actually started doing [thing] now. But tell me about you first, still working at [place]?

Notice: no pitch yet. You are rebuilding a relationship. The offer comes later, only if it fits. This is the opposite of spam, and people feel the difference.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- You already have lead sources. Turn each one into a path to your chat.
- Invitation posts make people message you first, which makes selling easier.
- Reactivate old contacts like a human. Lead with them, not your offer.

ACTION STEP

1. Add a "Message me" link to one social bio.
2. Post one invitation post with a keyword.
3. Reconnect with 5 old contacts using the human opener.

Module 3: Open Conversations

C2 · CONVERSE

This is where most sales are won or lost. The first few messages set the tone. Get them right and the person leans in. Get them wrong and you get a polite "thanks" and silence.

LESSON 3.1

The first three messages

Your first goal is not to sell. It is to start a real exchange. Three moves: greet warmly, acknowledge why they are here, and ask one easy question.

A STRONG OPENING

Lead

Hi, saw your post. How does it work?

You

Hey, so glad you reached out! 🙌 Happy to walk you through it. Quick question first so I point you the right way: what are you hoping to solve?

Lead

I need help getting more clients honestly

You

Totally hear you, that is the most common thing I help with. Can I ask what you have tried so far?

The shift: a question puts the person in the conversation. A pitch puts them on the defensive. Ask before you tell.

LESSON 3.2

Discovery questions

Good questions do two things: they make the person feel understood, and they hand you the exact words to sell with later. Keep a short list ready.

Five questions that work in almost any niche

- What made you reach out today?
- What have you tried before?
- What would a good result look like for you?
- Is there a deadline or event behind this?
- What is holding you back right now?

Never get left on read

People go quiet when the chat feels like a dead end. Keep it alive by always ending with a light, easy question, and by matching their energy. If they write short, you write short.

RECOVERING A QUIET CHAT

You

No rush at all 😊 Just so I do not lose your spot, are you thinking more for this month or next?

Lead

This month probably

You

Perfect, that gives us time. Want me to send the two simplest options?

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Open to start a conversation, not to pitch.
- Discovery questions make people feel understood and give you selling words.
- Always end with an easy question so the chat keeps moving.

ACTION STEP

1. Save your three opening messages as quick replies.
2. Write your own five discovery questions.
3. In your next chat, ask two questions before saying anything about price.

Module 4: Present Your Offer

C3 · CONVERT

By now you understand what the person needs. Presenting your offer is simply connecting that need to what you sell, then asking clearly. No pressure, no awkwardness.

LESSON 4.1

Talking about price

Price feels awkward only when it arrives with no context. Wrap it: remind them of the result, give the price plainly, then go quiet and let them respond.

PRESENTING PRICE WITH CONTEXT

You

So based on what you told me (you want X ready before the event), the best fit is the [package]. It includes [1], [2] and [3]. The investment is $[price].

Lead

Ok! And how do we start?

You

Simple. I send you the payment link here, and as soon as it is confirmed we begin. Want me to send it?

Do not flinch: state the price and stop typing. The silence is not rejection, it is the person thinking. Let them.

LESSON 4.2

Turn features into reasons

People do not buy features, they buy what the feature does for them. For every feature, add "which means" and finish the sentence with their benefit.

Feature → which means → benefit

- "Delivered in 48h, which means it is ready before your event."
- "Unlimited revisions, which means you are never stuck with something you do not love."
- "Support by message, which means you are never on your own."

LESSON 4.3

Asking for the decision

Many chats die because nobody actually asks. A clear, gentle question gives the person permission to say yes. Offer a simple next step, not a vague "let me know".

Closing questions that are not pushy

- "Want me to send the link so you can secure your spot?"
- "Shall we start with the [package], or would the [smaller one] fit better?"
- "Happy to get you going today. Should I set it up?"

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Give price with context, then go quiet.
- Translate every feature into a benefit with "which means".
- Always ask for the decision with a clear, easy next step.

ACTION STEP

1. Write your offer with price in the "context, price, pause" format.
2. Turn your top 3 features into "which means" benefits.
3. Pick one closing question and use it in your next chat.

Module 5: Answer the Common Questions

C3 · CONVERT

Objections are not a no. They are a request for more confidence. Almost every one falls into a handful of patterns, and each has a calm, honest reply.

LESSON 5.1

"It is too expensive"

This usually means "I do not yet see the value" or "I am not sure it will work for me". Do not drop the price. Reconnect the price to the result and, if it helps, offer a smaller option.

HANDLING PRICE THE RIGHT WAY

Lead

Hmm, it is a bit expensive for me

You

I understand, it is a real decision. Can I ask, is it the amount itself, or you are not 100% sure it will work for you yet?

Lead

More that I am not sure it will work

You

That is fair, and it is exactly why there is a 7-day guarantee. You try it, and if it is not right, you get a full refund. So the only real risk is doing nothing.

LESSON 5.2

"I'll think about it"

This is rarely a hard no. It often hides one specific doubt. Your job is to gently surface it, so you can answer the real question.

SURFACING THE REAL DOUBT

Lead

Let me think about it

You

Of course, take your time 😊 Just so I can help: is there one thing in particular you are unsure about? Sometimes I can clear it up in a line.

Lead

I just need to check my schedule

You

Got it. Want me to hold your spot until tomorrow so you do not lose it while you check?

LESSON 5.3

The follow-up that recovers sales

Most sales happen after the first chat, yet most people never follow up. A short, friendly, no-pressure message wins back a large share of "maybes". Keep it light and add a tiny bit of value.

Follow-up template

"Hey [name], no pressure at all 😊 just leaving the door open. If it helps, here is [a quick tip or a photo]. Whenever you are ready, I am here."

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- An objection is a request for confidence, not a no.
- For price, reconnect to value and lean on your guarantee. Do not just discount.
- "I'll think about it" hides one doubt. Surface it gently.
- Follow up. It is where most sales actually happen.

ACTION STEP

1. Write your reply to "too expensive" using your guarantee.
2. Save the follow-up template as a quick reply.
3. Follow up with every open chat from the last 7 days.

Module 6: Keep It Going

C4 · CONTINUE

One client can bring the next ten

The easiest sale is to someone who already trusts you. This module turns one happy client into repeat business and referrals, and builds a routine so new chats never dry up.

LESSON 6.1

Turn one client into referrals

Happy clients are glad to help, they just need a nudge and an easy way to do it. Ask right after a win, when the good feeling is fresh.

ASKING FOR A REFERRAL

Client

Loved it, thank you so much! 🥰

You

That means a lot 🙏 If you know one person who could use the same, feel free to send them my way. I will take great care of them, just like you.

LESSON 6.2

The weekly Status routine

Consistency beats intensity. A light, repeatable Status rhythm keeps you in front of everyone who has your number, so new conversations start on their own.

A simple 5-day rhythm

- Mon: a useful tip
- Tue: behind the scenes
- Wed: a client result (with permission)

- Thu: answer a common question
- Fri: a soft invitation to message you

LESSON 6.3

Track what works

You do not need fancy software. A simple note or the Business app labels are enough to see what is working, so you do more of it.

- How many new chats did you start this week?
- How many turned into a real conversation?
- How many became clients?
- Which opener or post brought the best chats?

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Ask for referrals right after a win, and make it easy.
- A light weekly Status rhythm keeps conversations starting on their own.
- Track a few simple numbers so you can repeat what works.

ACTION STEP

1. Ask your last happy client for one referral.
2. Plan your Status for the next 5 days.
3. Write down this week's 4 numbers.

Bonus A: 50+ Message Templates

Copy, paste, and change the words in brackets so it sounds like you. Never send a template cold without adapting it to the person.

OPENERS

REPLIED TO YOUR POST

Hey, so glad you reached out! Happy to help. Quick question first so I point you the right way: what are you hoping to solve?

REACTIVATION

AFTER THE SALE

WELCOME

Yay, welcome! You made a great call. Here is what happens next: [step 1], [step 2].

ASK FOR REFERRAL

So glad you loved it! If you know someone who could use the same, send them my way. I will take great care of them.

ASK FOR A REVIEW

Would you mind sending a quick line about your experience? It helps more people find me.

This is a starter set covering every stage of the C4 Method. Inside the members area you will find the full library of 50+ templates organized by situation.

Bonus B: Objection Cheat Sheet

Keep this page handy. When you hear one of these, you will know exactly what to send.

1. "Too expensive"

Is it the amount, or you are not sure it will work yet? Then reconnect price to the result and mention the guarantee.

2. "I'll think about it"

Of course. Is there one thing in particular you are unsure about? Sometimes I can clear it up in a line.

3. "I need to ask my partner"

Makes sense. What do you think they will want to know? I can give you the answer to share.

4. "Send me more info"

Happy to. So I send the right thing and not a wall of text, what is the main thing you want to know?

5. "Not right now"

No problem. Should I check back in [timeframe], or would you rather reach out when it fits?

6. "Does it really work?"

Fair question. It works best when [condition]. And there is a 7-day guarantee, so you can judge for yourself risk free.

7. "I tried something similar before"

What did not work about it? I want to make sure this is actually different for you.

8. "Can you give a discount?"

I keep prices fair for everyone. What I can do is [smaller option / payment in two parts]. Would that help?

9. Silence after the price

No rush 😊 just checking, does the option make sense, or would a simpler one fit better?

10. "I don't have time for this"

Totally get it. It is built to be quick, [time]. Want the short version of how it works?

11. "How do I pay?"

Easy, I send a secure link here and as soon as it clears you are in. Want me to send it?

12. "Is it safe to pay?"

Yes, payment goes through a secure checkout and you get a receipt by email instantly.

Bonus C: WhatsApp Business Quick-Start

Set up the free WhatsApp Business app in about 20 minutes. Do these in order.

1. Business profile

Add your business name, category, a one-line description, hours and a contact. This is what people see when they tap your name.

2. Greeting message

Turn it on so anyone who messages you first gets a warm hello instantly, even when you are away.

GREETING EXAMPLE

Hi! Thanks for your message 🙌 Tell me what you are looking for and I will reply shortly.

3. Away message

Use it outside your hours so nobody feels ignored.

AWAY EXAMPLE

Thanks for reaching out! I am away right now but I will reply first thing. Meanwhile, feel free to send your question.

4. Quick replies

Save your most-used answers and send them with a shortcut like /price or /hours. Start with these:

- /price, your standard pricing answer
- /how, how the process works
- /link, your payment or booking link

5. Labels

Tag every chat so nobody slips away. A simple set: New lead, In conversation, Waiting payment, Client, Follow up.

6. Catalog (optional)

If you sell products, add them to your catalog with a photo, name and price. Then you can send a product straight into a chat in one tap.

QUICK-START CHECKLIST

- Business profile complete
- Greeting and away messages on
- 3 quick replies saved
- 5 labels created
- Catalog added (if you sell products)

Conclusion: Your 7-Day Action Plan

Knowledge only pays when you use it. Here is a simple week to put the whole method into motion.

Day 1 Update your profile and install WhatsApp Business (Module 1).

Day 2 Set greeting, away, quick replies and labels (Module 1 and Bonus C).
